THE JUNIOR

FOR

SENIORS

Published by THE SENIOR CLASS of HARDING HIGH SCHOOL
Marion, Ohio

A sampler bright to make had we;
By daily efforts it was wrought;
By slow degrees the pattern grew,
With unskilled hands yet to be taught.

It grew with slow, relentless art;
Good craftsmanship—or poor—was shown;
And others viewed it day by day,
And by its patterns we were known.

MISS BROWN

When grandma was a little girl
She seldom read or played
But wound the yarns of many hues
And cross stitch samplers made.

The sampler that we now give you
Contains one golden thread
The golden thread of memory
Of one who us has led.

And so for all that you have done
With kindly thoughts sincere
We dedicate to you, Miss Brown,
The Quiver for this year.

In Years gone by they only had
 One master of the school,
 At Harding now are thirty-three
 To teach the "golden rule".

SENIOR HISTORY

Two classes, one from Vernon and one from Central, entered Harding as sophomores in September 1933. Those at Vernon, during their freshman year, chose Mary Anne Young and Page Boyer, presidents; Mary Jane Brown, vice-president; John Imbody, secretary; and Bette Bronson, treasurer, while the Central group elected Robert Stout, president; Elaine Strawser, vice-president; Margaret Vance, secretary; and Fred Warner, treasurer.

Both classes were active in athletics. The Vernon basketball team, coached by Mr. Alwyn Crane won the city's Junior High school championship. During the year Central presented two plays, "Who Says Can't", and "Orange Colored Necktie" while the class at Vernon gave "Oh Didn't It Rain."

As sophomores, the class elected Wilfred Staker, president; Elaine Strawser, vice-president; Jeannette Ammann, secretary; and Margaret Vance, treasurer. They were represented in debate and on the football and basketball teams.

The officers chosen in the junior year were George Conroy, president; Margaret Vance, vice-president; Wilfred Staker, secretary; and Robert Mullett, treasurer. Again the class was active in debate and athletics and the basketball team won the N. C. O. championship. The three one-act plays, "Patchwork Quilt", "Dress Reversal" and "Photograph Reveries", were given under the direction of Miss Lucile Foreman, and the year's activities closed with the Prom for the senior class of 1935.

George Conroy, president; Wilfred Staker, vice-president; Margaret Vance, secretary; and Dale Butcher, treasurer, were chosen as officers for the senior year. The football games were played for the first time on the new athletic field, and in basketball the team tied with Ashland for the N. C. O. championship. On April 1 the Senior play, "The Novel Princess", directed by Miss Lucile Foreman, was presented at the Ohio Theater. Class day, the senior breakfast, and graduation, June 5, completed the history of the class of 1936.

JUNIOR HISTORY

It was at Harding that the Junior class of 1936 became acquainted through assembling in Harding's "Melting Pot", the Sophomore class. As Freshmen, they chose for their leaders at Vernon, Frank Roberts, president; John Imbody, vice-president; William Zieg, secretary, and Elsie Jane Knapp, treasurer. At Central they chose Forrest Sharrock, president; Mary Ernestine Smith, vice-president; Joan Boyd, secretary; and Margaret Hufford, treasurer.

Both Freshman classes were active in extra curriculum activities which included Girl Reserves, Torch Club, Junior Red Cross, Dramatic Club, Glee Club, and Athletics. In the field of athletics Central won the championship of the Junior High School Basketball League.

The Freshmen of Vernon presented the plays "Early Plymouth Days", "The Low Boy Wins", "A Frock for Frances", and "The Case of Sophrania." These were directed by Miss Mayetta Anselment, Miss Una Ackley, and Mr. Alwyn Crane. They also edited the Vernon annual which is called "The Scroll." The Freshmen of Central presented two one-act plays, "Sauce for the Goslings" and "Keeping Kitty's Dates" under the direction of Miss Zelma Howard and Miss Rossanna Crow.

At Harding, as Sophomores, they selected for their officers, Forrest Sharrock, president; Olen Flickinger, vice-president; Irene Klinge, secretary; and Mahlon Gast, treasurer. Many members of the class became interested in the activities of the various clubs which Harding sponsors.

In the Junior year the class elected John Wilhelm, president; Olen Flickinger, vice-president; Irene Klinge, secretary; and Hamilton Gast, treasurer. During the year the class presented as their Junior play "The Poor Nut" by Elliot Nugent, under the direction of Miss Annabelle Lee Jankins.

The Juniors contributed players to the football and basketball teams, were represented on the debate team, and closed their activities of the year with the annual Junior-Senior Prom.

EDISON HISTORY

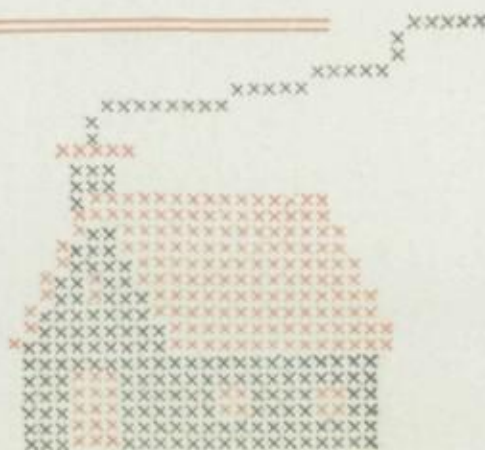

The Edison Junior class of 1936 did not organize as a class until their sophomore year when they elected Rex Frazier, president; Helen McWilliams, secretary; and Robert McCombs, treasurer. They took part in the musical production, "In Old Louisiana", and also in the eisteddfod at Edison, May 15, 1935.

Russell Arthur, president; Donald Quigley, vice-president; Robert McCombs, secretary; and Helen Jones, treasurer, were the officers elected for the junior year, and the play they presented was "New Fires", a domestic comedy in which fifty members of the class took part.

1936 took part in the operetta, "In Old Louisiana" during their freshman year. They also were represented by some of their members in the eisteddfod when Marion, competing with Mt. Vernon, Fostoria, and Kenton, won the silver cup.

In their sophomore year, they elected the following officers: Glenn Wintermute, president; Berdella Favorite, vice-president; Richard Fogle, secretary, and Dorothy Bailey, treasurer. They had the honor of being the first Sophomore class in the history of Edison to give a dramatic production which consisted of three one-act plays. The plays presented were: "Moon on the Bog", "The Bishop's Candlestick", and "The First Dress Suit."

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

The Harding chapter of the National Honor Society was organized in 1925 by Mr. K. H. Marshall and is sponsored by Miss Edith Brown.

Students who are chosen as members of the society have achieved the highest honor that can be attained at Harding High school. Twenty-five per cent from the highest fourth of the senior class, scholastically, are voted on by the faculty, who ballot on the points of leadership, scholarship, character, and service. The emblem of the organization is the keystone and flaming torch. The keystone bears at its four corners the letters, L., S., C., and S. which stand for the four cardinal principals of the society.

The officers for the year were: Wilfred Staker, president; George Conroy, vice-president; Betty Foster, secretary; and Mr. Dewey N. Bohyer, treasurer.

TRI-HI

The Tri-Hi chapter of the Girl Reserves is one of the largest organizations in Harding High school. Any Harding girl who attends three consecutive meetings and finds that she wishes to become a member is taken in at a regular ceremonial meeting called the "Recognition Service."

Tri-Hi was organized in 1928 with thirty charter members. Mrs. Roger M. Kyes (Miss Helen Jacoby) was sponsor. The organization is now sponsored by Miss Mabel Turney, Miss Ruth Starr, and Miss Margery Eymon. The leaders of the interest groups are Miss Marian Conley and Miss Leah Cline.

The purpose of the Girl Reserves is to create a spirit of friendship among the girls and a desire to attain those qualities which enable them to find and give the best in life. The meetings were held every two weeks on Thursday after school in West Hall.

TRI-HI

The outstanding social activities of the year were the winter dances, a Mother's Day Tea, to which the mothers of the Tri-Hi girls were invited, and the annual "Sweetheart Dance" held in May at Edison Junior High school.

The Girl Reserves with the Hi-Y held the services at the Central Christian church each morning before school during Passion week and, also, a sunrise service on Easter at the Harding tomb. These services have been conducted by the two clubs each year since 1930.

The officers for the year were: Betty Foster, president; Vivian Weimer, vice-president; Jeanette Ammann, secretary; Margaret Young, treasurer; and Mary C. Miley, chaplain.

The Hi-Y, composed of junior and senior boys, is an organization whose purpose is to maintain highest standards of Christian living throughout the school and community. Its four cornerstones are clean living, clean speech, clean scholarship, and clean athletics.

Hi-Y was organized in 1927 by Harding boys interested in athletics and the organization was known as the Harding Hi-Y. There are now five chapters at Harding and one at Edison Junior High school. These meetings were held on Tuesday evenings at the Y. M. C. A. with Robert Stout, city president, presiding. The latter part of the evening was given over to individual group meetings.

The six chapters with the Tri-Hi sponsored a Christmas party for the children of the Children's Home, and the pre Easter and Easter sunrise services. The activities of the year closed with the annual Sweetheart Dance.

AIM-HI

The Aim-Hi ring group was organized by Mrs. Roger M. Keys (Miss Helen Jacoby) in 1930. Any girl who has been a member of the Girl Reserves for two years is privileged to join Aim-Hi. To obtain a ring certain requirements must be met before she is able to wear the Girl Reserve emblem.

The emblem on the Girl Reserve ring is not of great value in itself, but lovely in its meaning. The circle that surrounds the triangle is to remind one of all the Girl Reserves around the world formed in a great unbroken circle of friendship. The triangle represents three sides of a growing friendship—body, mind, and spirit, and a Girl Reserve grows into appreciation of the meaning of the ring by living out the principles it represents.

The meetings were held every two weeks at the school on Thursday. The annual ring ceremonial was held Sunday afternoon, April 26, at which time the rings were presented to the girls. Nancy Usner was the chairman of the ring group at Harding, and Helen Jones at Edison.

LIBRARY COUNCIL

Library Council was founded by Miss Etta Jacoby in 1929, and she has been the sponsor of the organization since that time. Members are students chosen by Miss Jacoby to assist her in the library.

The purpose of the council is to contribute a service to the school by assisting students in finding material in books and magazines as needed in their school work, and in this way the members have practical experience in library work.

The meetings were held the first, third and fifth Mondays of each six weeks' period after school, and the programs consisted of book reviews, musical numbers, and articles of interest to the librarians.

Candy was sold during the year at the east and south doors of Harding, and the project netted $100.00 which made possible many new books for the library.

The officers for the year were: Louise Gracely, president; Elizabeth Stoll, vice-president; Patricia Stoll, secretary; Dorothy Peters, treasurer; Marianne Johnson, reporter, and Mary E. Smith, historian.

THE HARDING HERALD

The Quiver, published for the first time in 1912, was a combination of a school paper and magazine and continued so until 1916 when there was published a newspaper called the Quiver Junior, and a yearbook, the Quiver Annual.

In 1923 was the first class in Journalism, and they issued a newspaper, and also the annual with Robert Jacoby as editor of both publications. Robert Elliott was editor of the newspaper in 1927-1928, the first year that separate editors were chosen. In 1929 the name of "Harding Herald" was selected to distinguish it from the annual, with John Waddell as editor.

During 1932-1933 there were three editors for the Harding Herald, and since that time there have been two editors each year who, assisted by the Journalism classes, have edited the paper.

The members of the staff for the year were: Eleanor Epley and Rupert Brown, editors; Marie Weston and Ellsworth Stinehelfer, business managers; Kenneth Quigley, advertising manager; Mildred Zachman and Mary Louise Hume, exchange editors; Miss Lucile Foreman, faculty advisor, Mr. E. H. Shade, finances, and Mr. J. L. Gries, advertising.

Second Row: Mr. Shade, Patricia Stoll, Kenneth Quigley, Mary Catherine Miley, Elizabeth Stoll, Mr. Gries.

THE QUIVER

In 1912 the Senior class of the Marion High school published the first issue of the Quiver with Merlyn Whitney as editor. The name Quiver was suggested by Vergil Mealey. As a quiver is used to hold arrows, so the Quiver of the high school was to be for the purpose of containing news of the school and its students. It was first published in the form of a magazine.

In 1916 when Edgar Barnhart was editor, the publication assumed the name of the Quiver Annual. The year 1927-1928 was the first time that the school newspaper and the annual each had its editor. Margaret Schlientz was chosen editor of the Quiver and was the first girl to hold such a position on either staff. Since that time boys and girls have been editors of both publications.

Harding Band, under the direction of Mr. L. G. Jones, played an important role at the Athletic field during the football season. It not only increased school spirit for those games, but also added enthusiasm to the Harding High basketball games.

The band played at the dedication of the new Athletic field, and headed the parade when Harding students, staging a pep rally in advance of the game with Mt. Vernon, burned "Old Man Mt. Vernon" in effigy over a huge bonfire near the stadium. It also took part in the pep meeting at the Ohio Theatre when the Girls' Athletic Association sponsored the feature picture, "Metropolitan."

BOYS' GLEE CLUBS

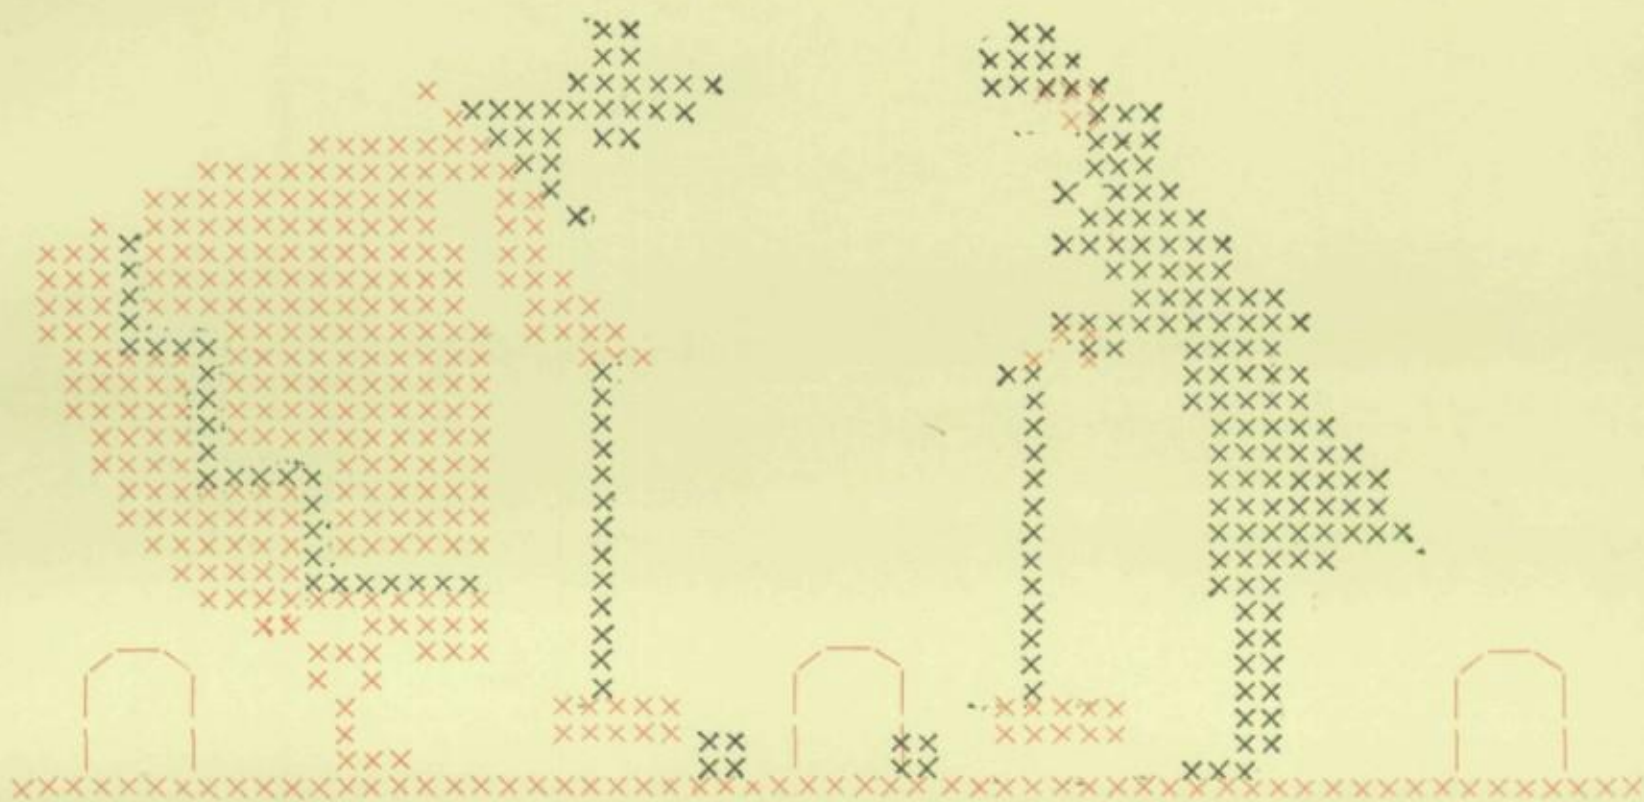

The Boys' Glee Club is composed of boys from the sophomore, junior and senior classes. The purpose of the organization, similar to that of the Girls' Glee Clubs, is to increase interest in vocal music.

MIXED CHORUS

To create an interest in classical music is the main objective of the Mixed Chorus. It was organized in 1932 by Mr. T. R. Evans, and members were selected from the sophomore, junior and senior class by competitive tryouts.

Reading from left to right: Miss Stump wearing the latest rick-rack trimming.—Miss McAfee showing the newest in parasols.—Miss Rauhauser proving that birds are the smartest trimming for hats.—Miss Wolfley demonstrating the correct way to hold a mallet.—Miss Freer and Miss Brown illustrating the new plumed hats and the proper way to hold the mallet when not playing.

Jenkins and Foreman, they pulled the strings and the puppets played.

Jones, Dunlap, Shade, Williams and Cramer, defend the rights of all Hardingites. —Mr. Todd, what courage!—Mr. Marshall with his book of Emily Post.—And Mr. Huffman! if not now, when?

The Butcher Boys, bless their little hearts!—Bettie Hawkins, that angel child.—Now, Ralph Davis, four cookies are enough.—How can you be so cruel, Wilbur? Just look at poor Fido.—Generous Jean, we'll only take a tiny bite of your cone.—Skating or not skating, our George gets places.—Evelyn and Robert will take you for a ride.—Harold says "Come on, Harding, let's go."

Bette's happy with her lollypop and her beautiful Belinda doll.—A penny for your thoughts, Vivian.—Mistress Jo, how does your garden grow?—When a feller needs a friend, there's always his dog.—The goblins will get you if you don't look out, Jack. — Robert Sweney and Robert Fair, like their doggie and they don't care.—“Aw, come on and play with us, Bill has his puppy and I can sing.” says Jean.
